FESCUE AERATION & OVER SEEDING DONE RIGHT!

Here's why:

At Superior Lawn Care our Fescue seeds germinate faster and grow deeper roots because we exclusively use Holganix Bio-800 in our aeration and over seeding process. Deeper roots, faster germination equals less chances of brown patch disease, less watering and better color! Learn more at Holganix.com/blog/topic/seed-germination

There are many things that Holganix Bio-800 does for the turf, especially when it comes to Fescue seed germination. Some of the things that contribute to such great results are the fact that Holganix Bio-800 contains nitrogen-fixing bacteria, natural wetting agents, mycorrhizae, as well as fulvic and humic acids.

The nitrogen-fixing bacteria found in Holganix Bio-800 feed and increase the likelihood of germination. Other ingredients such as mycorrhizae and fulvic and amino acids stimulate deeper, thicker root development, helping the turf establish itself faster. The natural wetting agents in Holganix Bio-800 further assist seedlings in making better use of available water. Simultaneously, Holganix Bio-800 helps the surrounding soil retain moisture, which in turn supports drought resistance. Trichoderma, a fungus, and Streptomyces, a bacterial protect the seedlings from disease by directly attacking disease causing bacteria and fungi and by producing chemicals that inhibit and/or kill bacteria and fungi.
